

FUN NIGHT IDEAS

Crack the Code Night

Basic Overview:

This fun night is designed to get the kids to complete a bunch of checkpoints from their books. How it works is that you bring a chest (or box) with a combination lock on the outside. Each classroom is given two game cards with a total of 80 possible lock combinations on them at the beginning of book time (see the game cards below). Each time a child completes a checkpoint in their book, they get to pick one lock combination on the game card and have their leader write their initials next to it. Because there are two game cards, two different leaders can each be holding one card in different spots in the classroom during book time.

It is important to have all the blanks on the game cards filled in with someone's initials so that each classroom has a winner. If you have several blanks still open at the end of book time, go around the room and allow each child to pick a blank to put their initials next to. You can do this as many times as is needed to fill up all the blanks on the game cards. Let's say you do this a couple of times and still have 4 blanks open and have 10 kids in your class. In this case, you can allow the four kids who completed the most pages that night to pick one additional blank, draw names out of a hat, or choose four who listened to the lesson best and put their names in the blanks.

At the end of the night or in opening time the following week, you will choose one combination off of the game cards and figure out which child in each classroom chose that combination. It is important to already have the combination lock unlocked or removed from your box unless your lock's combination is actually on the game cards. Bring everyone into the same room and read off the winning combination. Those children whose initials are next to the winning combination from each classroom get to come up and pick a prize from out of the treasure chest.
