

FUN NIGHT IDEAS

Radiant Royalty Night/Greedy Gold Miners Night

Basic Overview:

This particular night combines two of our fun nights together into one night (Radiant Royalty Night & Greedy Gold Miners Night). The children are encouraged to wear a King's Crown that they make or bring along with them. Encourage the children to create their crown out of paper, cardboard, cloth, wood, stickers, etc. You can even take a vote from your leaders during opening time as to who has on the most radiant crown and give that child a prize.

The children will also be competing to find the King's Jewels. For each page that gets signed off, the children earn one chance to reach into a paper bag and grab a Skittle out without looking. Those who find a valuable red ruby (i.e. a red skittle) earn a special prize. The more pages you complete, the better chance of winning a king's ransom.

How it works is that you will give each classroom a brown paper bag with skittles© inside of it. As you know, skittles© come in a variety of colors. Red skittles will act as your red rubies. The person who finds a red skittle© will get a special prize.

Set this night up by separating all of the red skittles© from the rest of the skittles©. Put enough non-red skittles© in the bag for each person to have 7-8 skittles©. For instance if you have a class of 15 children times seven skittles each equals 105 skittles©. Then place 2-3 red skittles© in the bag.

Each checkpoint that the child completes will earn them a chance to reach in and grab one skittle© out of the bag without looking. Those who do not get a red skittle© can eat it. Those who find a red ruby (a red skittle©) can show it to the leader or commander for a special prize. At the end of book time, the leaders can give out any remaining skittles© to the kids by letting them pick one, two, or three out at a time. Again those who get a red skittle© get a special prize.
